VALUE OF SPANISH

THE other day the Department of Commerce announced that the greatest difficulty in extending American trade to the south was the fact that so few Americans had a speaking knowledge of Spanish. A few professors and pedants were found who could indulge in conversation with some sort of intelligence, but that class of men and women were worthless so far as utility to the business requirements of the department was concerned. They were a lot of theorists who knew nothing of mechanical arts, the uses of inventions, the application of time saving appliances or knowledge of efficiency and discipline applied to commercial life. The department called for practical people, but none of that class seemed to have any ambition in the direction of advancing themselves by night study or the cultivation of intelligence regarding the foreign field. The eastern world represented by the territory east of the Mississippi appears to be dead to the advantages of acquiring a knowledge of Spanish and, if the proper effort is put forth, the best positions in the foreign commercial service of the United States can easily be captured by boys from the Pacific coast.

The difficulty the bureau has experienced in getting suitable men for its foreign investigations illustrates the lack of trained men for foreign commercial work which has so often been called to the attention of Americans in the last year. There are plenty of men capable of sizing up market conditions in any part of their own country, but there is a different story to tell when a man is wanted to study the prospects of selling goods in a foreign country. For South America, for example, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce wants men who can speak Spanish, who understand their particular line well enough to learn the essential facts so necessary to American exporters, and who, when in possession of these facts, can write them up in clear-out, logical, convincing fashion. Such men are scarce. For investigations in the far east a foreign language is not essential, although extra credit will be given in the examination for a knowledge of French, German, or Spanish.

RECLAIMED BY IRRIGATION

GEOGRAPHIES only half a century ago showed the "Great American Desert" covering the present corn and wheat fields of Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska, and the east did not find out the truth until railroads were built across the desert. In the same way a general impression prevails that the once fertile valley of the Tigris and Euphrates is now an arid desert. It therefore surprises American newspaper readers to find that the British and Turkish armies are mired in vast swamps and the country seems to suffer from too much water instead of too little.

Land in various parts of Asia Minor planted with date palms and other valuable fruit trees is worth more than a thousand dollars an acre. The people are skilled in the arts of agriculture. From the Turkish possessions in Asia Minor come the finest figs and other dried fruits, the most valuable drug-gist's opium and other agricultural products that require skill and patience. Irrigation and good government are the requisites for a renewal of the prosperity of thirty centuries ago. One of the difficulties is the law of the Koran forbidding the lending of money at interest. This blocks large commercial and industrial enterprises. Idealism of that kind kills progress.

NO CONCESSIONS ASKED

DISPATCHES from Berlin are encouraging as far as they go, but nothing of an official character has yet been published about the attitude of the German government towards President Wilson's last note. No press correspondent can telegraph anything from Berlin that the authorities do not approve, so there is a certain news value in stories that contain no real news. One thing is evident, the German government is going to talk about making concessions to the United States.

President Wilson has demanded no concessions. Americans do not want or ask Germany to make any concessions. All we ask is that Germany shall keep the promises she has repeatedly made and observe the law of nations as far as we and other neutrals are concerned.

If the belligerents in Europe choose to abandon all the codes and rules of civilized warfare, if hereafter they kill all prisoners of war, take or destroy all private property, massacre all non-combatant enemies, etc., we can only stand aside and let them lapse back into the stone age. But we can and will insist on being treated in accordance with our rights as they existed before this war. We have not lapsed into barbarism.

Every Elk should be found at the big annual reception of the order Friday evening both at the Airdome and the Home as this is the time when the boys get together for a social time and a renewal of acquaintance with the families of the order.

Mason Valley, which holds the record for copper, spuds and alfalfa seed, is not resting on its laurels, but is evolving another big irrigation project that will reclaim 10,000 acres of desert lands.

The mere fact that tungsten has dropped to a paltry $3,000 a ton is not discouraging locations judging from the demand at the Bonanza office for blanks.

Mineral county officials say everything between the skyline and Walker Lake has been located and still prospectors are coming in with fresh discoveries.

Wheat is going up in the markets of the world and Nevada farmers will have another million to spend for Christmas.

YERINGTON MOUNTAIN COPPER INSTALLS NEW COMPRESSOR

The Yerington Mountain Copper company are working about 400 men in their property, and will soon increase the force, as they are installing a fine new compressor, which as soon as in running order will give them the opportunity of pushing the big tunnel into where they expect to cut the vein, which they have developed from the surface to a depth of 400 feet. The tunnel is in something like 1500 feet, will have to be run about 3,000 feet further to get under the workings on the surface. Yerington Times.

Trying to read faces is interesting but nothing is gained by studying the back of a neck in the street car.

SPLENDID ATTENDANCE AT THE CRESSWELL CONCERT

The Airdome was packed to capacity last night when it is estimated that close to a thousand persons managed to crowd into that auditorium for the purpose of hearing the exquisite programme prepared by Mrs. George Cresswell for their entertainment. It was not until a late hour that adjournment was taken and after the floor had been cleared and dancing enjoyed to the music of a reinforced orchestra. Taken altogether the concert was one of the most appreciated efforts of the promoters and the thanks of every one is due to the lady who arranged such a treat for the people of Tonopah.

SORES HEAL RAPIDLY UNDER NEW SYSTEM

THE AVERAGE TIME OF CONVALESCENCE OF SOLDIERS REDUCED TO SIXTEEN DAYS

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, May 3.—The new Carrell treatment of soldiers' wounds has brought about a reduction of the period of convalescence, according to a report now submitted by Dr. Uffholtz, chief surgeon of a division of the French army. Under this process employed by Dr. Alexis Carrell, the report declares, the time required for the healing of wounds has been shortened to sixteen days in extreme cases, as compared with three months. On the average the period of evolution of the wounds is reduced about two-thirds.

The great advantage of the use of the hypo-chlorite of soda for the continual washing of the wounds is that it accelerates wonderfully the progress of healing to the point where the edges of the wound may be brought together by stitching or by adhesive bandages. In some cases Dr. Uffholtz has noted that a disinfection of from 7 to 9 days with this process has been sufficient to permit the closing of the wound.

MESSENGERS SCARCE IN THE NORTHWEST

GIRLS TAKING PLACES OF BOYS WHO ARE ELIGIBLE FOR MILITARY SERVICE

(By Associated Press.)

WINNIPEG, Canada, May 3.—There is a big shortage of errand boys and office boys in this province and in several other Canadian provinces as a result of the war and so pressing has become the situation that many big business houses are substituting girls for the whistling lads who so many years held sway.

One reason for the shortage lies in the fact that boys more than 16 years old are eligible for army service and a large part of them have enlisted. Another cause is due to the school laws which in this province and in other districts compel the attendance at school of boys 14 years old and younger.

The problem has been solved here by the telegraph companies who are employing crippled soldiers for messenger boy work.
